A panel of current ISE graduate students will describe their experiences throughout the application and decision process when picking a graduate program. Panelists will give brief descriptions of their diverse backgrounds and future plans (MS and PhD students pursuing industry and academia), followed by a Q&A session where you will have the chance to ask any questions regarding preparing, applying, and selecting graduate programs. You will also have the opportunity to speak with panelists individually after the Q&A session for any specific questions you may have. Whether you are a sophomore or junior considering graduate school, or a senior who is currently applying, you will learn from students who are active in one of the top engineering graduate programs in the nation.
